Recovering His Sight.—Word from St. Anthony states that C. O. Harris is recovering the use of his eyesight, which in the recent past threatened to leave him, owing to an accident sustained two years ago by the upsetting of a chair.

Shepard Appeal.—The opinion handed down by the district court of appeals in the E. B. Shepard case has been received here. It is the affirmation of the verdict of the lower court. Shepard has 60 days in which to take other steps in hope of keeping him out of the penitentiary for 13 months.

Asks Board to Investigate.—C. L. Irving, a Sandy sheep owner, requests the state board of health to investigate the mysterious poisoning of many of his flock of 2,000 head. As the disease continues to spread in Weber county, all infected hogs will be killed in hopes of eradicating the disease.

No Ice in Parley.—There will be no ice cut this winter from Parley's canyon reservoir because there is none there to cut. The water from the Big Cottonwood conduit, which flows into Parley's canyon, keeps the reservoir water stirred up and in constant motion, which prevents formation of ice.

Should Have Water System.—Inspector F. E. Clark of the state board of health will go to Panguitch, Green, Monday, to look into the people there on the benefits of a waterworks system. The doctor found 50 cases of typhoid fever in that section recently, and that the cause of the same was the water supply. A system of waterworks will remedy all this.

Changes at Fort Douglas.—Capt. James M. Love, Jr., of the Fifteenth infantry, has been detailed to the recruiting service at Columbus barracks, Ohio. Lieut. and Mrs. J. S. Upham have arrived from Los Angeles, where they have been visiting. Lieut. G. A. Weiser has been detailed for military map work in Arizona.

Ice is Better.—The state chemist has been analyzing samples of ice cut from ponds on the outskirts of the city, and finds that such ice this year, judged by the samples, is free from the impurities that were in the winter. The chemist is also analyzing the usual lot of samples of milk taken at random from city wagons by the food inspector.

FINANCES AUDIT AND HOME TALENT

Committee Passes Up Local Railroad Accountants in Favor Of St. Louis Man.

WOULD HAVE SAVED MONEY.

Echo of Action of Council Which Passed Up One of Best Systems For An Outside Firm.

The city council might have saved Salt Lake City $10,000 and at the same time might have been ahead of its present record about eight or nine months. The council authorized its finance committee to spend $5,000 for an audit of the city books and for suggestions from its accountants as to better methods of conducting the city's accounting system. The cost of the special auditors employed has already reached a little higher and higher, promises to climb higher and higher. A local accountant of undisputed ability entered a bid to do the work in three months' time at a cost to the city of $4,000.

The firm imported from St. Louis to do the work. Already the city has lost nearly $10,000 and a year has been spent by the auditors and they have not completed their work yet and the finance committee does not expect them to for more than a month and even after that assistants will be retained in the service of the city at $10 per day each to assist the new system work smoothly.

BID NOT ACCEPTED. In November of 1906 Councilman Ferry introduced a resolution in the council by which the finance committee was authorized to employ a firm of competent accountants to audit the city's books. The council at the same time set aside $5,000 or so much thereof as would be necessary to meet this expense. The finance committee asked for bids for the work. There were many responses and among them a bid from a local man of company, a railroad accountant, and better systems of accounting than those in use by railroads there are not. His bid was for $4,000, guaranteeing to finish the work in three months. He planned to do his work after office hours and any city officer or deputy who might be required to go to his office in the evening to aid the auditors was to be compensated for his time out of the compensation of the auditors. A competent force of railroad accountants was to do the work under the supervision of one of the best accountants of the city. The bid was recognized generally as such. Among these accountants was a former auditor of the state of Iowa.

THEY COME HIGH. Westernman & Trader, public accountants of undisputed ability in their line, also entered a bid. Their bid was such that no man could ever tell how much it would amount to. In the terms the accountant in charge was to be paid $15 per day for seven hours' work, assistants were to receive $10 for the same amount of work and the auditor was to receive $20 per day for seven hours. No estimate of the time that might be consumed was made and therefore no estimate of the cost to the city was possible. Still, the finance committee waded into the contract with Westernman & Trader, not knowing how large a figure the expense would reach.

They figured that when the St. Louis firm said that its low bid was made because the company intended to open permanent offices in this city, or that the price would have been much greater if they had attended their services to Salt Lake would be well worth the difference between their regular price and the low price made to the city.

Another charge was made that at a cost of $13,000, the eastern auditing firm has not completed the work that a Salt Lake man and his assistants would have done in three months at a cost to the city of $4,000 or $5,000, less than the eastern men have already received—and they are not through drawing their pay yet.
